The Energy Market and COVID-19

As PSAB’s endorsed energy consultant and procurement advisor, APPI Energy is here to help during this uncertain time. APPI Energy can review your energy contracts to ensure your municipality is protected against usage limitations that could trigger an energy consumption provision and help to inform suppliers of any expected significant changes to your electricity and or natural gas usage.

APPI Energy is continuously monitoring markets and price fluctuations to make appropriate recommendations based on your municipality’s current and future usage of energy. APPI Energy is committed to providing PSAB members with important information as it becomes available.

APPI Energy published a new article on their website entitled "Today's Energy Market and COVID-19." In this article, APPI Energy reviews how the uncertainties of current economic conditions due to COVID-19, and other factors, are impacting the energy market today.
